BOROUGH'S FLOOD GIFT DELIVERED

Stranded Woman Happy
To Get Crib
For Baby
AREA'S DEVASTATION REPORTED BY WORKERS

Pottstown's Salvation Army caravan, loaded with tons of supplies for Stroudsburg area flood victims, had to do some unloading before it rolled into that mud-caked town Saturday.

"Have you got a baby's crib?" a young mother asked. She was one of 50 refugees staying at a Monroe county farmhouse where the caravan stopped for water.

Sure enough, Capt. C. Robert Flinn, Pottstown SA commander who headed the expedition, was able to supply the crib. Generous caravan contributors had thought of everything.

"The mother was a typical victim of the disaster," the captain said. "Her husband was missing—she didn't know if he was still alive or dead—and she was stranded there with a two-year-old child."

OTHER ITEMS the local caravan carried were unloaded according to plan at a temporary warehouse in Stroudsburg.

The three local trucks were crammed with 31,881 separate articles—mostly food, clothing and bedding.

"We met the 14 other trucks from Montgomery county at Quakertown, Captain Flinn explained. "When we rolled across the pontoon bridge into East Stroudsburg, we were directed to the old 31-room railroad hotel they were using as a clothing warehouse."

Clifton Rowe, Jeffersonville fire chief, led the county caravan in a red sedan, and State police acted as escorts. Fire police helped direct traffic.

Fireworks Climax Two-Day Festival Of Maria Assunta

An estimated 11,000 persons saw the 50-minute fireworks display climaxing the two-day festival of Maria Assunta Lodge at the lower Doehler parking lot late Saturday night.

Lodge members exploded heavy bombs, design fireworks, and cherry bombs for the amusement of the big crowd.

The design that lodge president John J. Sperat was most proud of was the one that said 35th anniversary of Maria Assunta Lodge when it exploded.

John Celani, a lodge member, was in charge of the display.

FESTIVITIES began Saturday morning in front of the Lodge home at 379 Cherry street.

A bomb which exploded in the form of an American flag was set off and the Colonial Band of the Berwick Maria Assunta Lodge played the National Anthem. While the band was playing, 70 separate bombs were exploded.

Following this the band paraded to the lower Doehler parking lot for the festival. It was climaxed at 11:30 o'clock with the fireworks display.

Mapping Route of Mercy Caravan

What's the shortest route to the Pocono flood area? Drivers in Pottstown's flood relief caravan ponder the problem while studying road map with Capt. C. Robert Flinn, officer in charge of the local Salvation Army Citadel, Saturday morning. With the captain are Melvin C. Stroop (left), Pottstown Route 18 and Donald E. Woodley, 190 Moser road. The men drove to Stroudsburg with tons of food, clothing and bedding gathered here by the Salvation Army for flood victims. Three trucks were used, including a 20-ton tractor-trailer.

CAMPAIGN LIST BEING PREPARED BY RED CROSS

Committee Seeking $5000
For Flood Relief
To Be Named

Committee members may be named today to raise the $5000 the Red Cross has asked from the Pottstown area for flood relief.

"I hope to have the names of committee members and the amount of contributions received so far by tomorrow," Delaine E. Story, chairman of the Northern branch, announced last night.

Story said he believed some early contributors may have sent money to Red Cross headquarters at 69 North Charlotte street or to the Red Cross in care of Postmaster J. Alfred Marquet at the Pottstown post-office, but no figures were available last night.

The chairman was authorized to appoint the fund committee at a special meeting of Northern branch directors the past week.

THE $5000 sought locally is the Northern branch's share of $500,000 the Red Cross hopes to raise for flood relief from its Southeastern Pennsylvania chapter, which as 31 branches.

More than 1000 homes have been swept away in the flood area, the Red Cross estimates, and 2000 others have been damaged.

Seventy-five thousand persons have been made idle by destruction of places of employment. In Pennsylvania, 26,000 to 50,000 persons

Thoroughness of State Job in Question

Creswell Will Push Probe On Extent of River Dredging

J. Max Creswell, chairman of council's Schuylkill river flood control committee, last night said he would confer with Burgess John B. Hartenstine Jr. and council President J. Wayne Knause on the problem of flood control along the erratic Schuylkill.

The committee chairman said he wanted to learn whether the State had done a thorough job in dredging the river in the vicinity of the borough.

He explained, "It's a matter of opinion whether the job was ever completed as intended, but I surely will take up the matter with the burgess and president of council.

"I do believe the dredging did some good."

"THIS WAS the first time since the dredging that the Schuylkill backed up across the Manatawny dam at High street. In previous floods this was a common occurrence."

"I want to find out whether the State did the job it promised to do in Pottstown and although, I don't know whether my committee has jurisdiction over Manatawny flooding, I'd like to see the Manatawny dredged."

"The Manatawny is much more shallow than it used to be. It used to be twice as deep as it is at the King street bridge."

"County plans to replace the King street bridge could mean some dredging of the creek, but I haven't heard anything."

Stanley Zawaski, former Fourth ward councilman, was a persistent campaigner for State completion of the dredging. He charged that the State program was not completed in the Pottstown area.

He charged that the accumulated silt in the middle of the river should be removed.

R A P E - BEATING SUSPECT NABBED IN NORRISTOWN

Area Man Jailed on Charges
Of Attacking Woman
In 2 States

A Pottstown area man was apprehended in Norristown Saturday and held on suspicion of taking part in the rape-beating of a 47-year-old South Jersey woman.

The suspect, Martin F. Marlin, 30, of Mont Clare, was taken to the Cumberland county jail in Bridgeport, N. J., after his arrest. He agreed to return to New Jersey voluntarily.

Police said Marlin will probably get a preliminary hearing today on charges of abducting and raping Mrs. Lillian Brunell, of Del Haven, the past Wednesday.

Mrs. Brunell also is lodged in the Cumberland county jail. She is being held as a material witness.

MEANWHILE FBI agents joined police in the hunt for Marlin's companion. He is Nelson Wilkens, 28, of Cedarville, N. J.

Mrs. Brunell charged the two men offered to take her to police after her suitcase disappeared in a Wilmington, Del., tavern as she waited to change buses to Baltimore.

But instead, she said, the men attacked her in Delaware.

Dog, Cat Found Starving

Elderly Couple Fined For Neglecting Pets

An elderly Pottstown couple was fined $20 and costs on charges of neglecting a dog and cat after the case was brought before a justice of the peace by the local Animal Rescue society.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace U. Shellenberger, 857 South street, kept the two animals tied and neglected to feed them, Mrs. Ethel Kline, cruelty officer for the society, charged.

Mrs. Kline explained that she offered to feed the animals herself, but that Mrs. Shellenberger ordered her off the property when she arrived with food.

Mrs. Shellenberger told Robert H. Yergler, Sixth ward justice of the peace who heard the case Friday, that she and her husband are on social security and can't afford to feed the animals. She disclaimed ownership of the animals.

Her husband said he is trying to find a new home for the dog, a cocker spaniel.

"This case should be brought to the attention of the public," Mrs. Kline said last night, "because we have reason to think other animals are being underfed also. In this case, the animals were so thin you could count every rib."

Mrs. Kline was given permission to continue visiting the Shellenbergers to see that the animals there get proper food.

Burgess Warns Feuders
Not to Take Law
In Own Hands

A rash of warrants were sworn out on Saturday when feuding Water street factions threatened an open street battle.

Police intervened in what might have resulted in property damage and serious injury.

The feud began on Friday night at a bingo game at the Maria Assunta festival on the South Washington street parking lots of Doehler-Jarvis division and Bethlehem Steel company.

The feud Saturday night resulted in a telephone call to Burgess John B. Hartenstine Jr. who investigated with police and warned residents not to take the law in their hands.

Motor Patrolman Thomas W. Corum, one of the investigating officers, asserted, "I'll all come out in testimony at hearings today. No one can make any sense out of the claims and counter-claims."

"IT STARTED at the bingo game, and continued on Saturday when they began swearing out the warrants. That's about all I know about it."

The trouble reportedly centered around the Adamski brothers, Cornelius and Francis, of 431 Water street, and the Days, Ann and Julia, 645 Water street.

The argument flared at the bingo game Friday night, but the participants got home without any serious trouble. On Saturday, the battle took on the aspects of a real Martin-McCoy's struggle.

Police Find $2.43 In Locker from $275 Church Loot

Two dollars and forty-three cents, the remnants of the $275 stolen by a 16-year-old boy from the Spring City Mennonite Brethren in Christ church, was recovered Saturday at the Pennsylvania Railroad station in Philadelphia.

The money was recovered from a station luggage locker by Spring City police Patrolman William H. Rose Jr. who made the trip to Philadelphia with Schwenksville Police Chief Theodore Berry.

The youth who took the money yesterday was identified as Richard Wardle, Spring City. Wardle was charged with burglary and larceny.

Augustus Hoagy, 16, formerly of Spring City, who helped Wardle spend an estimated $210 in a spree in New York and Philadelphia, was charged with being an accessory after the fact.

BOTH YOUTHS were committed to the Chester county house of detention in West Chester where they are awaiting a hearing.

Hoagy, who had been living in Spring Mount at the time of his latest tiff with the law, was out of the house of detention on parole.

Wardle, a regular Sunday school and church attendee at the Spring City church, has been described as a youth who "seemed to be a model."

The money was stolen from the church this past Tuesday.

THE MONEY, designated as a foreign mission fund, was locked

First Methodist Church Names Choir Director

BOARD APPROVES MRS. LEPPERD IN MUSIC POST

A Pottstown choir director will return next month to the position she held at First Methodist church eight years ago.

She is Mrs. Norman G. Lepperd, who has been minister of music at Trinity Reformed church, King and Hanover street, since leaving the High street church in 1947.

Mrs. Lepperd will replace Dorothy Sutton, who resigned as choir and music director at First Methodist to take a similar position in Reading.

First Methodist's official board approved Mrs. Lepperd for the $2000-a-year post after she was recommended by the music committee. She will begin her new duties on Sept. 18.

During the summer, Peggy Kunkle has been substitute organist at First Methodist, as she was for the past several years while waiting to resume college studies.

MRS. LEPPERD presided at the First Methodist console for seven years before leaving there. Before taking full-time charge, she substituted occasionally for veteran organist William M. Binder.

The returning choir director is a graduate of the Westminster choir school, Princeton, N. J. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schlichter and the mother of one child.

Besides her regular church duties, Mrs. Lepperd also has been director of the Meister-singers, local singing group.

First Methodist church has had only four organists in the past 65 years. Binder served as keeper of the console for 54 years.

ROBERT H. KICHLINE was organist from 1947 till 1953, when Miss Sutton was hired.

Last night's service at First Methodist was in charge of the youth fellowship. Those who took part were Dolores, Marlene and Barbara Noll and Carolyn and Judy Umstead.

At First Methodist's WSCS meeting on Thursday at 7:30 p. m., those taking part in the program will include Eleanor Johnson (leader), Carroll Thompson, Mrs. Clarence Pike, Mrs. Irene Widger, and Barbara Snell Thompson, a returned serviceman, will show pictures of Korea and display articles he brought from Japan.

SUPPORT MISSIONS

The Finnish Missionary society (Lutheran) has 90 missionaries in various fields, 35 missionaries on furlough in Finland, 32 retired missionaries, and a home staff of 34, according to the society's latest report.

900-YEAR MARK

By the Summer of 1956, it will have been 900 years since the first Icelandic bishop, Isleifur Gissurason, was ordained. His episcopal residence was in Skalholt where he established a school for the clergy. Large celebrations are planned for next Summer at this historic site.

CHURCH SENTENCE—Bernard Smith, 16, sits in his jail cell in Port Huron, Mich., where he will spend 15 days. He was sentenced because his friend was killed when his car rammed a tree while going 60 miles per hour. Instead of sending the youth to jail for two years, the court ordered Smith to attend church every Sunday for two years after he is released. Smith must write every week to the court telling what the sermon is about.

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 13:34—"A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another."

The story has been told of a wayfaring stranger who one day long ago found rest and refuge in a home by the wayside where poverty and piety dwelt. After the simple evening meal had been served and time for retirement drew nigh, this stranger was invited to participate in the customary family devotions. Each was to take his turn at answering a simple Bible question, to be asked by the mother in the home. Not wishing to embarrass the guest and being entirely unaware of his identity she asked him the simplest question she could think of—"How many commandments are there?" His reply was "11." As graciously as she could she undertook to correct him by saying that there were 10. She was somewhat perplexed upon his insistence that he had given the correct answer, whereupon she inquired as to what the eleventh one might be.

His answer was "A new commandment I give unto you that ye love one another."

This stranger was none other than the famed Bishop Ussher who propounded the chronology which was later inserted in the margin of the King James version of the Bible.

Our Lord gave this command on the eve of His crucifixion. He spoke this word at the very moment when He was a victim of hate. He said that this commandment sums up all the commandments.

We do well to remember that in a world where hatred holds so much sway over so many, love is and ever shall be the greatest power in the world. Faith, hope and love but love is the greatest of all.

Interracial Church Moves Find Sturdy, Sincere Opposition

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—While most of the larger Protestant denominations have accepted the principle of racial integration in public schools, a distinguished religious news editor finds that "the move toward an interracial church, particularly at the congregational level, has sturdy, sincere opposition."

"One aspect of the segregation debate is heartening, however," says Caspar Nannes of the Washington Star.

"There appears a conscious effort in church circles to probe the issue without imputing motives. Speakers have been concentrating their fire on the subject rather than their opponents. Considering the tinder-box nature of the debate, this is no mean achievement."

Dr. Nannes completed a survey of the church integration situation this Summer.

Ike Studies Flood Reports

President, Wife Attend Rites, See Their Gift to New Church

DENVER, Aug. 28.—President and Mrs. Eisenhower worshiped today at the new Corona Presbyterian church here and saw for the first time their handsome gift for the edifice—the pulpit of lined oak.

The new building of brick and stone replaces the one in which the First Lady attended Sunday School as a girl. It is located just two blocks from the Lafayette street home of her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, where the Eisenhowers are staying, during their Denver visit.

After the 10:55 a. m. services the President and his wife drove to Fairmount cemetery to place flowers on the grave of her father, who died several years ago. They were joined there by Mrs. Doud, who did not attend the church services. Before leaving the Doud residence this morning the President studied a flood relief report on the Northeastern states, submitted to him by E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the American Red Cross.

HARRIMAN REPORTED that the Red Cross already has raised $3,866,000 in flood relief funds toward its goal of eight million dollars. He also informed Eisenhower, for example, that the agency's survey to date shows that a total of 895 homes were destroyed by the floodwaters in the six-state area.

The Harriman report said further that major damage was done to additional 4739 homes and minor damage to an additional 13,701. The Red Cross chairman also estimated that 12,630 families in the water-ravaged states have registered for aid.

The President and the First Lady arrived at church in their limousine about five minutes before the start of services. A crowd of about 250 persons was out in front when they stepped from their car.

Eisenhower wore a Summer weight navy blue suit with a nubby weave, a white shirt and a royal blue tie with a white figure. The First Lady was chic in a charcoal gray and brown print silk dress, a small white hat, white shoes and accessories.

THEY WAVED a cherry greeting to the crowd and hustled on into the church, which was only partially completed when they visited here last year ago.

One of the first things they saw after being seated in a pew six rows from the front on the right hand side was the new pulpit which they, together with Mrs. Doud, presented to the church. The pastor, the Rev. Robert S. Lutz, referred to it as their gift during the services and noted that it will be dedicated at a special ceremony the evening Sept. 12. Eisenhower and his wife plan to attend that service.

Today, the Eisenhowers joined the rest of the congregation in singing the hymn "Holy, Holy, Holy" and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

In his sermon, titled "The Savior on his throne," the pastor spoke of a need to turn to God for help in carrying great burdens.

"TOO OFTEN," he said, "you and I like to use God, but we do not rely on Him." The pastor also read the new code of conduct for American prisoners of war, approved by the President just a few days ago. It is designed in part to help such prisoners withstand the rigors of Communist "brain washing" without cracking under the strain.

THE CHURCH was crowded for the service and quite a few of the worshippers had to stand in the back. Afterwards, the pastor walked to the door with the Eisenhowers and they thanked him and said they enjoyed the sermon.

Woman in Black Causes Stir at Rites Attended by Ike

DENVER, Aug. 28.—A weeping, mysterious woman in black with closely shorn hair created a bit of a stir at church services which President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended today.

Neither the President nor the First Lady was aware of the incident, but her appearance at the Corona Presbyterian church caused secret service agents to take routine precautions.

The unidentified woman, probably about 25 years old, turned up first across the street from the church about 10 minutes before the Eisenhowers arrived. She stared intently at the crowd assembled in front of the church awaiting the arrival of the President and his wife.

She wore a black dress, sandals and quite transparent black veil over hair that appeared to be crudely cut very close to the scalp.

A FEW MINUTES after the Eisenhowers had been seated well up near the front of the church the woman entered the building and knelt on the floor behind the last row of pews. Then she began sobbing quietly. She clasped her hands in an attitude of fervent prayer as tears rolled down her cheeks.

Ushers noticed her at that point and escorted the hysterical woman to a small room off to the side of the main church unit.

One Secret Service agent on routine assignment at the rear of the church then took up a station at the door to that room. Another moved close by. Later during the service the woman moved of her own accord to another anteroom at the rear of the church. The agents kept a close eye on her but she caused no trouble.

She made no attempt to get anywhere near the Eisenhowers as they left the church.

Soviet Air Power Surprising

THE question of where the U.S.-Soviet balance of air power really stands has split the Pentagon and National Security Council as no other issue has succeeded in doing, according to a copyrighted article appearing tomorrow in the September issue of Fortune.

The Soviet heavy bomber program has clearly gathered momentum so rapidly as to be on the verge of closing the technical gap—in numbers and quality of aircraft, if not in operational experience—that heretofore has assured U.S. ascendancy in this master strategic-weapon system.

There seems little question that the lead of "two to three years" with which Secretary Wilson only last year credited U.S. air power has diminished, though it is impossible to judge by how much, the article says.

The event that produced the Pentagon schism were the Moscow drills of the Red air forces in preparation for the May Day flyovers. Because of low overcast the aerial part of the Moscow show was cancelled. But during April members of the foreign colony in the course of their daily travels past Tushino airfield saw from the street numerous Red formations practicing for the aerial parade.

The visual evidence confirmed that the Red air forces were being rapidly equipped with at least five types of aircraft which had previously been appraised by the West, with one exception, as prototypes still a long way from large-scale production.

Lacking the Soviet designation, the West has christened them

Bison—a very long-range, swept-wing four-jet, bomber of the B-52 type;

Badger—a medium-range, swept-wing, twin-engine bomber of the B-47 type;

Bear—a very long-range four-engine turboprop aircraft that could be either a bomber or a tanker;

Farmer—a twin-engine, swept-wing "air superiority" fighter;

Flashlight—an all-weather interceptor, apparently fitted out with electronic tracking devices.

These models certify that the Soviet Air Force is for the first time firmly established in the critical bands of the offensive-defensive spectrum.

For the Russians to have been able to put from a dozen to possibly 20 Bisons into the air meant, by comparable U.S. experience, that they must have had twice as many off the assembly lines. This was a bigger display than SAC's General Curtis LeMay could have mounted with the B-52's then at his disposal unless he rounded up all the aircraft undergoing final test and tinkering at the Boeing plant.

A disturbing point is that if the long-range turboprop bomber Bear should turn out to be a tanker for the B-52 type Bison then the Red air force's capability for continuous two-way intercontinental missions would be enormously compounded. In such a role the Bear would give the Soviet long-range air force "an appalling capability"—to quote a senior air force official.

When the first Bison was sighted over Moscow in May 1954, it was tentatively marked as a prototype, putting Russian intercontinental bomber development at least two years behind the U.S. That comfortable surmise has now been discarded.

The new estimates credit the Soviets with having already produced enough Bisons to equip at least an equivalent SAC heavy-bomber group. Current production is figured at half a dozen a month, and the rate is expected to rise to twenty a month by late 1956.

It would seem that the design-to-production cycle of the Bison has been only four years compared to an eight-year cycle for the B-52.

"That the Russians were able to compress a national effort of this magnitude in half the time consumed by the B-52 was an eye-opener to the conservative bloc in the Pentagon," Fortune says.

Fortune's editor draws three conclusions from the current evidence of the Soviet air buildup:

—A gigantic engineering and production effort was required to bring along not only the big engine and the big bomber, but also the advanced fighter and interceptor. An effort of comparable scale would tax the existing resources of the U.S. aircraft industry to the extreme."

—Soviet aeronautical engineers have by and large broken clear of their earlier dependence upon captive or proselytized German technical talent. Today only a few scoundrels remain. (These few seem to be concentrated in an experimental center at Kuibyshev.)"

Editor, The Mercury,
Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see by the papers where a group of Chicago doctors report alcohol can be used as an aid in nose surgery.

It's the first time alcohol has been found useful in keeping the nose clean!

These doctors think they made a discovery in the field of plastic surgery. As a matter of fact, alcohol has figured in the remodeling of noses for centuries!

And say: The doctors warned that an excess of alcohol caused the patient to become loud. Wal, one too many is likely to make a fellow cut up.

Hopla! you air the same,

Pottstown Losing Its Place in the Sports Sun

State-Wide Fame Gone

To the Editor: There was a time, not too long ago, when Pottstown sports teams were knocking off the best and winning state championships.

Remember the girls' Cardinales teams that brought so much fame to Pottstown all over Pennsylvania and even out on the West coast?

How about the great Legion Junior team that won the state championship? We just don't have those kind of teams any more. Why?

There's only one answer. Poor leadership. There's no one around who can inspire kids to play ball, at least the kind of ball that wins state championships.

You printed a good example of it on the front page just the other day. The school athletic director resigns so he can spend more time selling real estate.

Take it from me, the kids in Pottstown aren't getting a good break any more as far as sports are concerned.

Plump and Beautiful?

To the Editor: An article in your paper says that girls from farms are more beautiful than the girls from the cities.

The writer of that article has never been to Pottstown. I'm sure, where you see those shoofly-pie-fattened gals, plump as a pumpkin, waddling along the streets. You can tell at the first look that they've come from the farm.

If this type of girl is beautiful, the judges at the Atlantic City beauty pageant have been way off base.

I'll take the city girl — slim, tall and shapely.

To the Editor: One of the surest prognosticators of the weather is the direction of the wind.

Time was when you'd see a weather-vane almost anywhere you looked. Not any more.

INTIMATES PREDICT the Bobo-Winthrop Rockefeller situation will flare into new prominence before 1956 . . .

Ted Steele's show must have the most crowded sponsor's booth in all television. His tab is picked up by 35 products! . . .

Hitler's financial genius, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, will have his controversial autobiography published in Britain. German publishers felt the book was too hot to handle.

Ingrid Bergman has been carrying on transatlantic telephone negotiations with Chester Erskine, who plans to bring her back to the U.S. in March — if not earlier for her first television appearance.

If she stars, as scheduled, on the "TV Reader's Digest," Ingrid will garner more gazette space than "The $64,000 Question."

LEO DUROCHER isn't endearing himself to baseball authorities probing the issue of whether stars in the national pastime should be paid for pre-game interviews, etc. When questioned, Leo flips them with a reply straight from Lindy's: "See my agent!"

Olga James, who was so enchanting in the film version of "Carmen Jones," is being talked of for a big role in the Sammy Davis Jr. musical, "Mr. Wonderful." . . . The Greenwich Village strip-joint owners already are feeling the hard hand of the new police commissioner: nightly checkups, and summonses for even minor violations.

Since he was introduced to the Bloody Mary at Bernard Baruch's luncheon last June, Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov has been drinking virtually nothing but the vodka-and-tomato juice combination . . . The Wilma Montesi murder in Italy — front paged all over the world — comes to trial in the Fall, with the central figure, Marquis Ugo Montagna, preparing a novel defense. He will present a book he just wrote — "Memoirs of a Man with Amnesia" — and a Technicolor film on the case in which he will play himself.

ACCORDING TO the statistics in a Sunday paper, the big scoop is that Janet Leigh was married for the SECOND time when she was only 14. The biog says she was born "on July 6, 1932," goes on to relate that at 15 she eloped to Reno with a 19-year-old boy named Kenny Carlyle, and subsequently married Stanley Reames "on Oct. 5, 1946" — when, if she was born in 1932, she would have been 14, or younger than when she was married the first time. Those movie stars lead pretty interesting lives.

Margaret Truman will visit Audrey Hepburn soon after she gets to Rome — and maybe Maggie will be invited on the set of "War and Peace." Reporters have been barred.

Basin Street's big drawing card, Roy Hamilton, was offered the part of "Leadbelly" (Huddie Ledbetter) in a Broadway production based on the life of the late blues singer — but he turned it down. Roy is devoutly religious, and felt it would not be in keeping with his beliefs to portray a man who served time for manslaughter.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28 — They're saying a whole new career looms for Alexis Smith — since she opened on the stage here t'other evening in "Plain and Fancy." ALL AROUND THE TOWN

Gets an Early Start . . . Santa for Five Tots . . .

★ OFF FAR EAST — This item isn't meant to be seen by five little children who at this moment are on the high seas, going back their "see-e-o-d home" in Dahrhan, Saudi-Arabia. Several of them are too young to read, anyway. But the word better not get to their little ears that Santa Claus was happily packing their Christmas toys the other day. The "Santa Claus" is Theodore R. "Ted" Drippe, owner of the Town Toy company here. He was getting ready to ship the toys to the children's father, Arnold Satterthwait, who together with the tots and Mrs. Satterthwait are returning to the Far East where he is an Arabic language specialist with the Arabian American Oil company. You can't get good American-made toys in Saudi-Arabia, so before sailing last Friday Satterthwait put in a $60 order with Drippe . . .

DRIPPE, who last Christmas filled orders for shipping toys as far away as Guam and Africa, went to work right away. For he had to allow 90 days for shipment. What a wide-eyed bunch of youngsters — ARNOLD JR., 11; BRUCE, 8; MICHELE, 6½; CECILIA, 4, and SALLIE, 3 — there'll be when Christmas Day, 1955, arrives! They'll be frolicking with dolls, bows and arrows, toy guns, rubber balls, miniature farm animal sets, an express wagon and doll coach among other things. They're all in the boxes being shipped by Drippe. And so there'll be no leak in the secret, the toys will be sent directly to the Arabian American Oil company where, no doubt, they'll be stashed away until Satterthwait surprises the youngsters on Christmas Day. As a home town touch, Drippe included a copy of The Mercury in one box of toys. The Satterthwaits spent two months here at the home of Mrs. Satterthwait's father, FRANK F. ZISSA, 1102 Bellevue avenue.

★ AMBITIOUS — It takes a lot of courage and ambition to go to college after you're married and started a family, but Donald Schaffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schaffer, 462 North Hanover street, has the will to do it. He and his wife, the former Elisea Schworer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schworer, 776 Queen street, and nine-month-old daughter, Valerie, will move into an apartment at State College Sept. 12. Schaffer will enroll for his second semester of study leading toward a degree in electrical engineering. Four years in the Navy convinced him that he wanted a college education. He kept the goal in mind even after his marriage while still in the service. On leaving the Navy, he found that he needed extra high school credits for enrollment in Penn State. That meant six months of post-graduate work at Pottstown High school. This done, he started at Penn State last February, living with his family in an apartment at Bellefonte, 12 miles away. Now, in State College, they'll be closer to school — and happier, too.

HANDY GADGET — There's a new speed indicator for cars that should provide a safety factor. It's a combination speed indicator and insect deflector that fastens on the front of the hood and you can check your speed without taking your eyes off the road. A transparent plastic speedometer with large dial numbers, readable day and night, shows your speed . . . Quickest way to lose control of your car: Stop making payments on it. . . . Vacation habits have been surveyed this summer with this startling statistic revealed: Some 45 percent of all vacationers spent all or quite a portion of their time with relatives. Have you had your quota yet?

★ JUMPY — Observe some of the drivers in Pottstown these days and you'd think this was the interpretation of our traffic lights: yellow, speed through the intersection; red, block the crosswalk, and green, beat the car along-side . . . We think of the watermelon as a richly-named vegetable. Actually, rhubarb contains nearly 3 percent more water than watermelon . . . Bet you didn't know that those little nubs of cloth on men's silk suits are called slubs. This would make a nice hobby, wouldn't it — snatching slubs? . . . Have you heard about the Hollywood actress who told her child about the Father Bear, the Mother Bear and the Baby Bear by a former marriage.

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

1. A constitutional monarchy.
2. Switzerland.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

By this time of year, if you are a hay fever victim, you are probably sneezing, sniffing and wiping your tear-filled eyes every few minutes. But don't doom yourself to this life of distress for the remainder of the Summer. All is not lost. There's a lot you can do to relieve those troublesome symptoms.

The same goes for the more than 2,000,000 sufferers of bronchial asthma throughout the country, many of whom find this the most troublesome season.

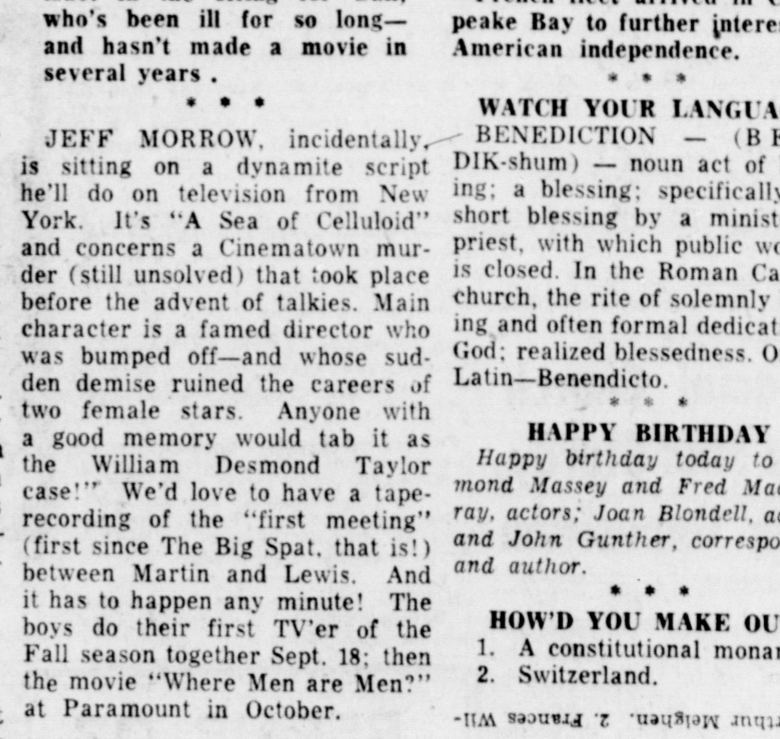

Let's see just what is causing all this sneezing and wheezing.

If you're a hay fever victim or a seasonal asthmatic, your trouble is probably wind-borne pollen. By far the greatest cause of hay fever and the source of a major number of asthma attacks is the pollen of ragweed. But there are other offenders, too, such as sage or wormwood, elm, hemp, chenopod-amaranth, English plantain and timothy grass.

Most wind-pollinated plants ripen early in the morning. Although they discharge their pollen at this time, it's usually 10 or 11 a. m. before the air is heavily contaminated. Usually, the greatest concentration occurs in the forenoon. After midnight the air is relatively free.

After being discharged from the plant, these little masses of yellow pollen cling to the open pollen cases until they are dried thoroughly. Then, they are whisked from their perch by the next wind.

As the auto and steel contracts forced many other industries to follow suit, so Moses' action is expected to have a similar effect on southern coal firms, as well as on the anthracite operators. It is interesting, too, that, although these increases will boost the price of coal to steel mills and railroads, they entered no complaint.

In short, the friendship for and confidence in Eisenhower has had a chain reaction throughout all American industry, with union labor as a principal beneficiary.

cer saw how much clothing we had brought," Captain Flinn recalled. "He told me it should be enough to supply the town."

All clothing in the caravan had been sorted according to size and packed in boxes bearing the size numbers.

"They're short of clothing because they lost most of their own and because they can't touch some they have left for fear of contamination," the Pottstown officer explained.

Eleven men from Pottstown and area helped unload the trucks, which included the 20-ton tractor trailer supplied by Reed's coal yard. It was the biggest of the 14 in the group.

THE LOCAL men who worked from 5 p. m. (when the caravan reached the warehouse) until 7:30 p. m. included:

George Lambrecht, 355 King street; Lewis Weaver, Birchrunville; Melvin G. Stroop, Pottstown Route 18; R. Blair Hunter, 1020 Elmwood drive; William Graham, 237 South Washington street; Charles Galloway, 45 King street; Donald E. Woodley, 190 Moser road; Robert Woodley, 234 West King street; Frank S. Hillpot, 462 Buttonwood street; William Chapman, Limerick; and Captain Flinn.

All worked without pay and the trucks they used were loaned free.

Hunter, a building contractor who loaned one of the trucks, said he didn't think any dwelling in the devastated area could have withstood the flood.

"If it could plough through a concrete and steel bridge it could weaken any house," the contractor commented. "I don't see how they're going to get some of those flooded houses dried out again either."

The local men saw Stroudsburg area residents washing mud off their living room walls with garden hoses. In some homes, mud was two feet thick on the first floor.

"You can't imagine the stench up there either unless you've been there," remarked Lambrecht. "The whole place smells like one big barnyard from dead animals, dead people, garbage and sewage."

Telephone and electric wires in flood area are hanging full of debris, Chapman recalled, indicating that the waters were at least 25 feet high there.

FEAR OF typhoid fever is as prevalent as the stench of death in Stroudsburg, the men report. Typhoid stations are fighting the threat of disease with inoculations.

"The Salvation Army is operating a mass feeding program for the flood victims," Captain Flinn said. "They're getting food in direct from wholesalers, but they were in need of the bags of sugar we brought them."

The captain revealed that he turned over a check made out for $563 to the Stroudsburg Salvation Army. This represented Pottstown's cash contribution to the past week's SA appeal.

Contributions of food, clothing, bedding and cash still are being accepted at the King street citadel. The money will be used for a paint-up-fix-up project the Army will sponsor in the flood area.

Damage to Miss Martin's car was estimated at $150. The right front fender, headlights and rear door, and the right rear radiator were damaged.

Army Engineers Check Problems Confronting Area as Result of Floods

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, with temporary headquarters in Reading, want to know about any community problems that have resulted from the ravaging flood of this past August 19 and 20.

Capt. Thomas G. Blair, in charge of the office, reported yesterday that the big post-flood job will keep the engineers busy longer than they had anticipated.

He cited the need for elimination of bottlenecks which might cause a serious future flood.

He pointed out that blocked streams and ditches and the present high level of streams and creeks could combine to cause serious flood damage with even a light rain.

THE SOIL, filled with water from the rains after Hurricane Connie and Diane, will not take much more water. That's why even a light rain could prove troublesome.

Residents along Hay creek, Birdsboro, would face heavy dam-

709 Water street, charged Cornelius Adamski with attempting to do bodily harm, and Ann Day charged Francis Adamski, with disorderly conduct.

A final warrant was sworn out Saturday night by Mrs. Mildred Burdan, 601 Water street; she charged Willie Elliott, Penn Village with disorderly conduct.

As the warrants were sworn out, it was reported that each side began rounding up supporters for what promised to be a rousing fight.

One of the Adamskis called Burgess Hartenstine and reported his troubles. The Burgess then made a check, and warned residents against causing a disturbance.

LAWYERS released on $100 bail and Julia Day on $50 bail and the Adamskis on $25 bail each.

Julia Day and Laws will face their charges before Seventh ward Justice of the Peace Earl R. Strange at 10 o'clock this morning. The Adamskis will face the justice at 8 o'clock tonight.

Since Mrs. Burdan's warrant had not been served last night, the date and time of the hearing was not set.

BATTLE —

The first warrant was sworn out at 11:30 o'clock by Mrs. Evelyn Cushman, of 551 Water street, who is related to the Adamskis.

SHE CHARGED Julia Day with disorderly conduct and at the same time charged Waverly Laws, 645 Water street, with threatening to do bodily harm. When Laws was picked up by police, he was charged with being drunk and disorderly.

Vacationing With Mercury Readers

By THE VACATION EDITOR
Of The Mercury Staff

One of these days, the scientists predict, you'll be able to board a transatlantic rocket and be shot to Europe in a fraction of the time it now takes to fly there.

You'll be seated into what looks like a larger growth of the German V-2 rocket of World War II days. While you relax in the pressurized cabin and read The Mercury, the rocket will zoom into the stratosphere in a high arc over the Atlantic.

By the time you get to the comics, you'll be on the downward glide path. Minutes later your pilot will be bringing the rocket to a gentle landing in England.

Rocket travel will be wonderful for weekend visits, but for vacations you may prefer a quaint old ocean liner.

TWO POTTSTOWN area vacationers who do prefer the salt air to the stratosphere are Mr. and Mrs. William Franke, Oley Rd.

"We're in merry old England after a beautiful crossing on the Queen Mary," they write. "Tell our friends we send our best regards."

Liner Queen Mary in midatlantic

Their card showed the graceful Cunard liner among the whitecaps in mid-ocean.

Another card—from Carol Twaddell—also had a nautical touch. It showed a ship gliding calmly on the fresh waters near Elgin, Ontario, Canada.

"I just wanted to say hello to all my friends," Carol wrote.

BERLIN, Aug. 28 (AP)—Fifty of West Berlin's policemen donned bathing trunks today to get their men.

The occasion was a rally scheduled for a West Berlin beach by the forbidden Communist youth organization FDJ.

Disguised as bathers, the cops frolicked among the Sunday crowd. The leader of the barechested squad was handed a Communist leaflet by one of the FDJ agitators. The agitator was arrested, as were 26 others.

Ice Cream Summer Offender

Ice Cream—that wonderful, tasty stuff—is a real summer offender. With Summer now on the calendar, many a mother will, for a moment or two, wish it had never been invented.

It needn't be too big a headache, really. Here are a few tips on how to keep the problem of Johnny-or-Susy-and-Scream-Scone to a minimum.

WASHABLE GARMENTS
As soon as the ice cream has stained the garment, wash off all of it that you can with a moist cloth.

Use water only.
Later, before washing, soak it in clear water.
Be sure, of course that the stain is completely out before ironing.

DRY-CLEANABLE GARMENTS
LEAVE THE STAIN COMPLETELY ALONE. Do not wipe or rub in any way. This merely works the stain into the fibers and makes it more difficult to remove.

Bring that garment to us to be cleaned as soon after staining as practical. And, when you do, please tell us about the stain. Sometimes a stain is not easily seen, and unless told about it we might not employ the special "spot digesting" techniques called for.

In any event, either way—whether you wash it out yourself, or bring it to us to be cleaned—you may be sure of complete ice cream spot removal—as well as good cleaning, always, when you CALL OR BRING IT TO

Sanatoga Accident Sends Driver, 5 Fans to Hospital

Two Spectators Admitted after Mishap at Track

Two spectators were hospitalized and four other persons injured Saturday night in a freak accident at Sanatoga Speedway—where there hasn't been a driver seriously hurt since the track was reopened six years ago.

The most seriously injured fan, 13-year-old Daniel J. O'Neill, of Norristown, was still in a semi-conscious state at Memorial hospital last night, suffering from a brain concussion. He was judged in "good" condition.

The youth was struck by a flying piece of lumber—measuring 30 by 8 inches and an inch and a half thick—that was knocked 30 feet into the air when a stock car rammed into the fence on the third turn of the second novice race of the evening.

O'Neill apparently never saw the board coming. The wooden piece was part of the supporting structure of the crash rail near the pit gate on the fifth-mile track.

Another spectator, Alteo DeSantis, Conshohocken, saw the board—which was knocked a distance of 60 feet by the force of the car hitting it—coming his way. He put up his arm to protect himself and was struck when the piece glanced off O'Neill.

He suffered a shoulder injury, hospital authorities said and was in "good" condition also last night.

RICHARD KRAMER, 235 Yost avenue, Spring City, the driver of the stock car that hit the fence, was treated for a bruised left elbow and discharged.

He said his car was pushed into the fence by an auto behind it. Kramer said he didn't know who was driving the other car.

The other spectators treated at Memorial hospital were Richard Harp, 425 Second avenue, Royersford, multiple brush burns of the right arm and left knee; Anne Burki, Phoenixville, brush burns of left knee, and Norman Batchelder, Conshohocken, cut over the nose.

O'Neill was taken to the hospital in the track ambulance, Kramer and DeSantis in the Good Will ambulance. The three other injured persons were taken to the hospital by Lower Pottsgrove Police Chief Harry G. Chrusch.

This was the first serious accident at the Speedway since it was taken over by George Marshman. Treatment of the injured spectators was covered by his insurance, he said.

SIX YEARS ago two fans were injured when they were hit by a two-by-four piece of wood that was rocketed at them when a stock car hit the fence in front of the home stretch grandstand.

Paul K. Fizz Jr., who now lives at 269 Beech street, suffered a deep gash over his right eye and Michael Jacobs, 107 High street, a bruised shoulder in that mishap.

Rocky Ewing, Royersford, notched his second feature victory of the year in the 30-lap windup, making him the fifth driver to record a "double" at the track this year.

Newt Reinert, who topped wins in a heat and a semifinal, was second. Ewing and Dick Havens were the other heat winners. Ed Halde- man won the second semifinal and HURRICANE IN MIDWEST NOW—Headlining the first Cleveland boxing show in months, Hurricane Tommy Jackson will trade punches again with Ezzard Charles in a 10-round Wednesday, at the Arena. Jackson trimmed Charles in a recent bout.

Wednesday Bout on TV

Jackson Can Up Rating With Win Over Ezzard

By The Associated Press

If he keeps on winning, Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson may have to be considered a serious challenger for the heavyweight title. The 23-year-old New Yorker with the freakish style will attempt to prove the point when he meets Ezzard Charles, the ex-heavyweight champion, in a return bout in Cleveland, Wednesday night.

Now ranked as the No. 3 contender behind Archie Moore and big Bob Baker, the perpetual motion kid swarmed all over the sixth ranking, 34-year-old Charles to win a unanimous decision and his seventh straight fight on Aug. 3.

"I underrated him," said the bewildered Charles after that one. Ez shook up Jackson early and thought he would be able to knock out the strong-jawed youngsters but The Hurricane just kept on coming.

That was Jackson's 24th victory against three defeats, Charles,

Valley View Cops Junior Legion Title

ALLENTOWN, Aug. 28 (P)—Valley View is the new Pennsylvania American Legion Junior baseball champion.

The champions scored six runs in the fourth inning last night to overcome a 3-2 deficit and beat Phoenixville, 8-7.

Left-hander Marlin Strohecker held a ninth inning Phoenixville uprising to two runs before an estimated crowd of 1500.

It was Valley View's first title in the 29-year-old tournament. Coplay won the title last year.

Valley View received the Connie Mack State championship trophy and pitcher Strohecker was awarded the Legion's sportsmanship trophy.

STORK HOTEL WHIPS 'STARS,' 5-2, ON 3 HITS

Locals Held Hitless For 7 1/3 Innings By 2 Twirlers

Two Stork hotel twirlers combined to hurl 7 1/3 of no-hit ball as the Reading City league champs downed the Pottstown City circuit All-Stars, 5-2, at Memorial field No. 1, Saturday.

The All-Stars were unable to get a single bingle off Joe Mario, who does more with a softball than a lot of baseball twirlers, who hurled the first four rounds. Thornton Skipper pitched the final five innings and received credit for the win.

The locals did all their hitting and scoring at the expense of Skipper, counting single runs in the eighth and ninth.

The Storks tallied deuces in the first and third off 'Star' starter Ed Koneski and added another digit in the fifth while Carl Saylor was handling the pitching chores for Pottstown.

Herb Beekley held the victors runless and hitless over the final two innings.

THE FIRST hit for the 'Stars'—baiting champ Dutch Reimers' single—plated George Seafoss, who had walked and stolen second, with the locals first run, in the eighth.

Harry Bartoli's double and Tom Weber's single accounted for the losers' second run, in the ninth.

The Storks' first pair of tallies crossed on an error, a sacrifice and singles by Jack Lindrum and Fritz Unheim.

In the third, Unheim powered a four-sack swat to left after Skipper had singled.

Unheim garnered his fourth RBI of the day in the fifth when he doubled behind a pass to Skipper.

LINDRUM robbed three All-Stars of hits in the early innings to keep Mario's record unblemished. He made nifty running grabs on socks by Tex Twardowski, Merrill Renninger and Bartoli.

A goody throng of 250 turned out for the tussle. The teams will stage a return match Saturday on a Reading field yet to be determined.

Tonight, PAR and St. John's will resume their best-of-seven CSL final playoff set at 6:15 p. m. at Franklin field annex. The defending champ Refiners lead in the series, 1-0, by virtue of an 11-8 verdict registered Friday night.

Linfield Wins Seasonal Title in Jr.; Kenilworth Snares Knee-Hi 4th Spot

Linfield Lions rallied behind Jack Haines' four-hitter to down the Shamrocks, 8-1, and cop the Junior league regular season crown in yesterday's first-place playoff game at Memorial field No. 1.

The victors did all their scoring in two big spurges off John Artim, counting three in the first and five times in the third.

The 'Rocks broke up Haines' shutout bid with an unearned digit in the fourth on a hit batsman, a fielder's choice, Dave Krause' single and a throwing error on rightfielders Bill Weber.

Corky Wentzel one-hit PAA, 10-2, pounding a triple and a homer to boot, in the final game of the regular season, Saturday at Kenilworth.

YESTERDAY, the Lions had things pretty much their own way in a game that was expected to be as tight as the drawstrings on a miser's money-bag.

In the first, after Artim fanned the first two batters, Linfield shoved across three runs on Roger Beards' single, a dropped fly ball, a throwing error on shortstop Garry Raybold and Junior Dinno- centi's two-run bingle.

Singles by Beards and Dinno- centi coupled with two squeeze bunts, a hit batsman, a passed ball and an error accounted for the victors' final blast.

Beards wound up with three singles in four trips and Dinno- centi socked a pair of singles to head the winners' seven-hit attack.

ON SATURDAY, the fifth-place Stone nine tallied in every inning but one in ringing up its convincing victory.

Wentzel pounded a solo homer to left-center to spark a two-run up- rising in the fourth and added a triple in the sixth good for two more.

Jim Chieffo's double was the big swat in the winners' three- run second.

Wentzel whiffed 10 and walked only three in earning the hill decision.

Tonight, Linfield takes on York street, the circuit's third-place team, in the opener of a best-of- three semifinal series at 5:30 o'clock on the Kenilworth diamond.

The 'Rocks and URW, which ended in fourth spot, open sparring in their semifinal set tomorrow night on a field yet to be named.

Kenilworth rounded out the Knee-Hi league playoff picture yesterday by edging Linfield, 4-2, at Memorial Field No. 1 to snatch fourth place in the circuit standings.

The defeat was the second in succession for the Lions, who were afforded two shots at a playoff spot, but blew them both. They had been defeated, 6-2, Thursday night, by the Optimists in a special match scuffle for third place.

The three clubs—Linfield, Optimists and Kenilworth, finished in a three-way tie for third ranking in the regular season, each with a 6-4 mark.

The victors never trailed in the game, always counting just before Linfield did its plate-dirtying.

They broke a 1-1 tie with two runs in the fourth on singles by Pete Stanson and Ralph Frederick and an error on Linfield first baseman Phil Plotts to amass all the runs they needed.

GARY LOUGHLIN was credited with the hill victory on a neat three-hit effort. That performance, hit-wise, was matched by the losers' Bob Landis and Denny Faust.

Landis, who hurled the first five frames, giving up all Kenilworth's hits and three runs, was charged with the defeat.

The semifinal playoffs get under way tonight with the regular season champion Elks taking on the Optimists at 6 p. m. at Doehler's Stowe field in the opener of their best-of-three series.

Tomorrow night, Kenilworth and Berman will inaugurate their set, either on the same field or at Memorial park.

Grid Coach Gives New Angle on Scholarships

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (P)—Well, like the cowboys who dropped into a movie because they liked a good Eastern, you're always getting a new angle on something.

We had the vague idea that in the endless quest by colleges for sturdy young fellows willing to play a little football in exchange for higher education the boys were the victims of the avarice of the school, whose interest wasn't so much in the athletes as individuals as it was in bigger and better teams.

Now we learn that the schools sometimes are done wrong by the boys, who agree to attend one of them and wind up at another which happens to have a faster talking representative, or maybe a faster buck.

Anyway, coach Frank Howard of Clemson has outlined the reasons that school favors some form of grand-in-aid, pointing out such a policy would create friendlier relations between Atlantic Coast conference school, would give the coaches a fair break, and would be of advantage to the individual athlete.

"When an outstanding high school athlete promises faithfully to attend one conference school and then changes his mind at the last minute in favor of another, unfriendly relations tend to spring up between the schools," Howard says.

"ACCUSATIONS are made and denied. The grant-in-aid will help considerably in removing suspicions between A.C.C. members in the field of recruiting prep athletes and should pave the way for an eventual agreement—similar in scope—with the Southeastern and Southwest conferences."

Howard believes the athlete gets all the best of it under the present setup.

"All agreements made between conference colleges and prep athletes today are strictly one-sided in favor of the athletes," he points out. "The athlete can accept a four-year scholarship at one school, then change his mind at the last minute—usually after being urged to do so—and then attend another."

"The coach is either caught short handed or has assumed that a certain percent of the boys' promises are no good and already has offered a few extra scholarships; however, if all the boys keep their word, then a 'far-sighted' coach might find himself obligated to more boys than he can accommodate."

The Clemson coach explains that the present situation also requires coaches to stay on the road all Summer checking on boys who have promised to attend their schools. In other words: just telling a boy in August that he is just checking up to see if his word is any good.

THE BOYS would profit through a grant-in-aid program as they could make a final decision without being hounded all Summer by other schools, and if a boy accepts a scholarship while still in high school he can concentrate on his

THE OLD HOME TOWN by STANLEY

Try and Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

JOHN GUNTHER, whose Book-of-the-Month Club selection, "Inside Africa," will be the sixth in an amazingly successful series, was week-ending recently at a luxurious Long Island estate. The Japanese butler, Mitzumo, was an especial admirer of Mr. Gunther's talents. On Sunday morning a neighbor, coming to pay his respects, asked, "Is John Gunther available?" Mitzumo giggled and reported, "No, Mr. Inside out!"

Lauren "Baby" Bacall, the beautiful and talented wife of Humphrey Bogart, made her TV debut in an exciting role in Robert Sherwood's "The Petrified Forest." Was she scared? Lauren confessed, "I was more petrified than the forest!"

Jackie Gleason told the story of the husband who came home very late and explained lamely to his wife, "Honey, we had sort of a drinking contest at the club this evening."

"Very interesting," she snapped. "Who came in second?"

Pottstown Area's Prides

Another in the series of beautiful homes that make the Pottstown area warm.

This is the home of Mrs. Anna L. Buchholtz and her five children. Located on Bleim road on Ringing Hill, it was partly built by Mrs. Buchholtz's late husband, Karl. Relatives finished the house after his death and the family moved in during October of 1954. The first floor contains a large living room, dining room, bath and two bedrooms while the second floor has two bedrooms, a powder room and cedar room for storage of linens. The house has a hot water oil heating system. The grounds were landscaped by Alan Levensgood. Mrs. Buchholtz's children are Gertrude, a teacher at Lower Pottsgrove school; Karl, 17; Wilma, 15; Nancy, 12, and Michael, 10.
